12. How I helped a blindman cross
the road

Yesterday, I was going to the market to buy some vegetables. When I was walking on the pavement ^{beside} the road, I saw that a blind man was trying to cross the road. Because of heavy traffic on road, he couldn't cross the road. I went near him and asked him if he needed my help. He said yes in affirmation.
When the traffic light became red and the traffic settled, I held his hand and helped him cross the road through the zebra crossing. When we reached the other side of road, he thanked me and said "May God bless you!"

Prevention of communicable diseases.

As mankind developed, the obstacles in its face also began to develop. Diseases are one of those obstacles. In modern world, due to ignorance or circumstances, many people are suffering from diseases. Communicable diseases are the most abundant diseases. Mosquitoes and other animals play a vital role as carrier of these diseases. Due to mosquitoes, several diseases such as dengue, malaria, chicken guinea, zika and other viral diseases occur.

These are all generally water borne diseases. In order to prevent these diseases, we should drink clear water, clear stagnant water bodies and keep our environment clean. We should understand our responsibility towards its prevention. As it is said, "Prevention is better than cure."

(b) He was angry with his father because his father showed cruelty upon him by making him sleep in the office room.

(c) He hated the newspaper for printing the tiger's story.

(d) Monster.

21. 'A Man's True Son' is an appropriate title for the story. In this story, there is a gentleman who helps a thief to become a good man and the thief, after becoming a good man promotes the generous, kind and good deeds of the gentleman. In fact, a good father is one who guides his children on right (correct) path and a good and true son is one who promotes good deeds of his father. In the story, the gentleman helped the thief become a good man like a father and the man promoted his good deeds like a son.

22. Killing, hurting, and saying cruel and bad things to others are its characteristics. Killing for ideas, nationalities or to preserve a little ^{piece} of land are also a part of physical violence.

2.3. Reference :-> These lines have been taken from the poem 'An Elegy on the death of a Mad Dog,' composed by Oliver Goldsmith.

Content :-> Here, the poet urges the people to listen to his song.

Explanation :-> Here, the poet urges the good and generous people of every kind to listen to his song. He says that if they find his song to be wonderfully short and confined, the song would not hold and endure them for a long time.

2.4 (b) The poet became unhappy, because of his poverty. His grief deepened when all his friends and relatives left him alone. He could not find even a single person to help him out of his poverty.

(c) In the poem, all the people predicted that the man must die soon because the dog had bitten him. But it is strange that the dog's poison proves to be weak. The man becomes well again. On the contrary, the dog dies.

25. (a) The story presents Bholi in such a light that we sympathise with her. She has neither good looks nor intelligence. She even stammers while speaking. She is a neglected child at home. The only thing that happens in her favour is that she is given education. Once educated, she takes decision, gains confidence and becomes bold. This was her turning point that changed her.
After Q. 28. (Due to less length)

26. (b) At the end of the story, when the narrator asked the old man to get up, he said that he had only been taking care of the animals.

27. (a) Uttanka lived in a hermitage in the middle of the forest. His hermitage was made up of mud and straw.

'Increasing number of road accidents.'

Good morning to all,

Today, I would like to express my views on the topic 'Increasing number of road accidents'. I hope that you all like my views.

The world is developing fastly. Along with this development, there also come a lot of dangers. Nowadays, road accidents have become a hindrance in our lifestyle. Daily, we can see that this number is increasing rapidly. From 1970 to 2014, the number of road accidents has become four times. In year 2010, 1.34 lac accidents were accounted. The major reasons for road accidents include rash driving, drunken driving, ignoring traffic rules etc. To prevent this number of increasing road accidents, it is very necessary to spread awareness & strictly implement the laws.

Thanking you, Have a nice day.

25. (b) This story gives us a lesson that excess money is the root cause of all social evils. Excess money corrupts a man and brings out the best in him. In this story, there is a man who is happy with what he has but when he gets excess money, he tries to get pleasure out of it. This story also teaches us the bad effects of alcohol. An alcoholic person behaves like an animal and pollutes the environment around him. So, we should be satisfied with what we have and stay away from alcoholism.
